What Did You Expect? (Redesign): Redeeming the Realities ... In What Did You Expect?, Paul faithfully and brilliantly lets the gospel bear its weight on the messiness and beauty of marriage. I, personally, found the book to be helpful, and we use it extensively at The Village. Which of the two sentences is correct? "What did you do ... "What did you do? on the other hand, is a question and not a nominal clause. It is formed like this: start with the prototypical sentence (subject verb object): So in summary, "what did you do? is a question, whereas "what you did is a special kind of sentence called a nominal clause. What Did You Expect? | Paul Tripp You need changed expectations, you need radical commitments, and, most importantly, you need grace. Available Products NOTE: The 10-session conference is not designed to accompany the book. sentence structure - What did you say / said? - English ... What did you say? The simple reason for this is that when you form a question like this in English, you use an auxiliary verb, in this case "do". When the question is in the past tense, you conjugate the auxiliary verb, but the main verb is just the bare infinitive, "say", and never changes. Did you use or used to? | Jordan McCollum Just like you wouldn't say "I did/didn't went to the store," I don't think you should say "I did/didn't used to go to the store." And of course, in very formal writing, you should never have used either "did" or "used to".

I Know What You Did Last Summer (1997) - IMDb Title: I Know What You Did Last Summer (1997) 5.7 /10. Want to share IMDb's rating on your own site? Use the HTML below. Uses of "have you had" and "did you have" - Stack Exchange I would say the key difference between "Have you (done X)" and "Did you (do X)" is the timeframe. I believe have refers to a continuous past and asks if something has happened since a particular time. While did specifies a particular time and asks if it happened then. When you don't specify the time, have defaults to either ever or recently. Since almost everyone has had lunch at least once in their life, we assume the more useful question of whether they've had it today. did you know? - Improving your knowledge daily with ...
